MISCELLANEOUS READING. LABOR AND CAPITAL.

At a meeting of the citizens of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, recently held for the purpose of inducing the Legislature to enact laws designed to establish the "ten-hours' system," the following resolution was adopted: "That in our opinion the interests of labor and capital are identical, and that all circumstances which render strikes for hours or wages necessary, are detrimental to that identity, and should be avoided if possible."

We agree with those who adopted this resolution. We regard good recompense for labor as the right of the laborer, and we always rejoice when he is successful in obtaining it; and we regard it also as one of the 70 00 ty. But we have often been called upon to 35 00 deplore the unwise means adopted for its obtainment. We have, at some times, seen the employer prostrated and ruined by the obligation to complete a contract by paying far higher wages than were demanded at the time of his entering into it; and at other times we have witnessed the privations of the many whose injudicious strikes had brought upon them losses that it required months or even years to retrieve. In short, a strike is a sudden and summary process of doing what should only be done after due deliberation and a fair understanding between the parties interested. It is therefore gratifying to mark the rise of new ideas in the right quarter, 25 00 and to know that the intelligent laboring people of our country reallize the fact that "the interests of labor and capital are identical, and that by wise forethought and liberal concessions, the occasion of strikes should be avoided.

A THRILLING PARAGRAPH.

I well remember, says the Charleston Cou-750 rier, the Captain of the Moselle, which ex-500 ploded at Cincinnati some years ago, but who 300 was, at the time I speak of, commanding another boat, trading from Cincinnati to New Orleans. We were followed by another boat, from whose chimneys rushed gigantic columns of thick black smoke, showing that she was urging her speed by burning rosina very common device in such cases on the Western rivers. Our Captain went foaming and swearing through the boat in a tremendous excitement. An old lady, a cabin passenger, went to him and begged him to go more slowly. All waited what he would say. I shall never forget his answer: "Madam," 3,000 said he, swearing a horrible oath, "if I knew 2,000 every soul on board would be blown to hell, I 1,000 would not suffer that boat to pass me!" He 400 did not suffer it, and his impious blasphemy was for that time permitted by his creator to go unpunished. A few months afterwards, however, he commanded the Moselle, and 125 00 when the terrific explosion of that boat took place, it was caused, as was asserted, by the 31 25 Captain's leaning his weight against the ORDERS for Tickets and Shares and Cer- safety valve, and declaring that he would not lose an inch of steam-he, poor wretch, was blown a hundred feet through the air, and his head forced up to the shoulders, through the roof of a shed standing near the
